Information for patients with general health insurance.

Claraspital

Dear patient,

Welcome, and thank you for choosing the Claraspital and for placing your trust in us. Here, you are in the very best hands. We do everything we can to provide you with excellent medical, nursing and compassionate care and treatment.

You will most likely be unaccustomed to staying here with us and will probably have questions. This brochure is intended to help you become more familiar with everyday hospital life and to show you what services you can expect from us with general insurance. It may be, however, that you still have questions that need answering. If this is the case, please do not hesitate to contact your nurse or doctor, who will be glad to assist you further.

We hope that you feel safe and well looked after here, and that you will be able to return home soon. We wish you a pleasant and restorative stay.

Relatives are also frequently put under great strain and stress by the disease. In addition to traditional pastoral care, the Claraspital also offers patients with cancer psycho-oncological support where prescribed by a doctor.

Music and creative activities such as painting, photography, working with clay, etc. can help with a serious illness or with processing the progression of an illness. Music or art therapy is prescribed by a doctor.

Rights and duties

What you need to know during your stay.

Meticulous treatment, support and care

You have the right to full treatment and support that respects your human dignity and is appropriate to your disease.

Professional secrecy

All employees of the hospital are bound by professional secrecy and confidentiality. Third parties will only receive information concerning you with your consent. We will assume, however, that you consent to us notifying your direct relatives and GP.

Self-determination

Medical procedures, examinations and treatments will not be performed against your will. Your consent is required for simple and practically risk-free examinations and procedures. If you refuse to undergo a suggested medical procedure, this will of course be respected, although you will have to assume responsibility for any resultant consequences. Your participation in student or nursing training may be requested from time to time, but this will not happen without your consent.

Information and education

The doctor will educate you in an understandable fashion about the main examinations, treatments or procedures, and the associated risks beforehand – or afterwards in the case of emergencies. By providing your signature, you confirm your consent to undergo treatment/the operation. The form specifying that you have been informed will be stored in your file.

Follow-up treatment

The Claraspital will notify the doctor that referred you to the hospital and the doctor providing follow-up treatment about your condition and any further measures required. Your relatives or other persons providing you with care will be informed of post-discharge care and treatment.

Data

The Claraspital processes your data in compliance with the provisions of data protection law. On request, you will receive information on the processing of your data.

Access to medical history

The medical history contains all the main information about your disease and its progression and treatment. You can access documents prepared by the hospital by suitable means.

Clinical research

Upon admission to the Claraspital, you will be asked whether your health data and samples may be used in encrypted form for research purposes at a later date. You will receive an information letter with a declaration of consent for you to sign ('general consent'). This information explains how you as a patient can contribute to medical progress and shows how your patient data and rights are protected. You can find additional information on our website.

Advance healthcare directive and terminal care

If your disease is no longer curable and you have the impression that treatments would simply prolong your suffering unnecessarily, please let your doctor know. Providing caring support and assistance in meeting your requests and concerns takes absolute priority for us. Where euthanasia is concerned, we have established the following principles:

- No life-preserving measures will be taken if doing so would contravene your written (e.g. in an advance healthcare directive) or verbally expressed will ('passive euthanasia').
- On request, your suffering can be relieved using any available means, even if the side effects of these may mean that your life expectancy is shorter as a result ('indirect active euthanasia').
- Directly taking measures with the specific aim of ending a life ('direct active euthanasia') is not possible within the Claraspital.

Right of complaint

If you believe that your rights have been violated, you can submit a complaint. The first step is to notify the nursing staff or doctor of this verbally. If necessary, you should then contact the Quality Management team in writing. If you are not happy with how your complaint has been handled, the neutral and independent ombudsman 'Spitäler Nordwestschweiz' is available to assist you where needed.

The patient's obligations

As the patient, you too have a number of obligations.

These include, in particular:

- providing the doctor treating you with full information about previous diseases, examinations and treatments;
- following the nursing and organisational instructions of the staff;
- being considerate of your fellow patients, both in terms of the number of visitors you have and the use of media and listening to music. Use headphones if necessary. If there are no headphones in your room, we will be happy to provide them for you.
